THE LAYOUT

Back-of-house: loading docks, work bays, warehouse zones, and the second-floor offices stacked above them.

Reading the plan. The four Work + Office suites pair each ground bay with the office directly above it — Office 201 over Unit 107 (Suite A), Office 202 over Units 101-102 (Suite B), Office 203 over Units 103-104 (Suite C), and Office 204 over Units 105-106 (Suite D). Warehouse Areas #1, #2, #4 and the pallet-storage zone are dock-served bulk space.

Things to know

■ Term & timing

Occupancy starts September 7, 2026. Flexible terms run as short as three months, with every sublease ending on or before October 2027 — built for a defined project or season, not a long-term home.

■ Best-fit uses

Dry storage, e-commerce fulfillment, light assembly and distribution. Food-grade storage requires Washington WSDA warehouse licensing (RCW 69.10) — budget a few weeks to process, and we can point you to the steps.

■ Delivered as-is Spaces come broom-clean. Light improvements like partitions or shelving can be arranged.

■ What's in the rent

One monthly number covers your space plus shared power, water, internet, corridors, restrooms and utility rooms — and call-center routing so your business line rings straight through to you. You carry your own business insurance.

■ Shared loading

Grade-level and dock-high doors, plus shared carts and pallet jacks. Dock windows are coordinated so every tenant gets reliable access.

■ To reserve

A deposit and first month's rent hold your space. All space is subject to master-landlord consent.
